

REUNIONS 2001

May 2001

Dear Princetonian:

Welcome back!

There's no better way to celebrate being a Princetonian than returning for Reunions. Your Reunion Chairs have once again created a memorable weekend, as you will see from the program contained in this booklet. We hope that your visit with friends and classmates this year will be truly special.

It is a particular honor for me to serve as your ceremonial host this year as it is my last as Chair of the Alumni Council and President of the Alumni Association. I have had the pleasure of serving during a time in Princeton's history that has been extraordinary — thanks to your continued support. I hope that over the course of this weekend you will get a chance to see just how Princeton continues to flourish on all fronts.

I encourage you to sample the intellectual fare of the many fine forums sponsored by the Alumni Council and major reunion classes and to enjoy Princeton's visual and performing artists. I also commend the returning classes for the many community service projects that they are sponsoring.

For those thinking of a career change, the Class of 1976 is hosting a half-day session on career transitions on Thursday. We also salute the successful year long celebration of the Centennial of the Graduate School with Saturday morning's symposium on "Teaching and Research: Princeton's Unique Path."

Of course, later on Saturday afternoon, there's the one and only P-rade, and in the evening a concert and fireworks at Poe-Pardee Fields.

Have a wonderful weekend!

Joseph L. Serafini '64
Chair of the Alumni Council

Princeton Entrepreneurs Network 2nd Annual National Conference: Back to Fundamentals—How to Survive and Thrive in a Difficult Capital Market. Meet and confer with fellow entrepreneurs, investment and service leaders who are helping to shape the new, new Economy post-Internet bubble. Our day's events will include a Keynote Address by a prominent entrepreneur or venture capitalist, an enjoyable luncheon where you will meet people with similar interests and needs, and the afternoon offers two concurrent tracks of panel discussions:

1. Growth and Survival Techniques: We will discuss means of finding alternative sources of financing for existing companies such as corporate partners/investors, venture lessors, friends and family, angels and bootstraps, offer and assess techniques for company survival amidst intensified demands for profitability and cost controls, and explore exit strategies in lieu of initial public offerings.

2. New Growth Areas: In this track, we will highlight such new areas for rapid company growth as the "click & mortar" phenomenon, communications, IT/software, and wireless, the biotechnology and medical devices area including, proteomics, genomics and bioinformatics, and others, as well as explore methods for identifying and participating in such growth areas.

The conference will culminate with a reception that allows the participants to network and share more experiences. This year's conference is sponsored by the Class of 1981. Alumni: $30; Students: $15. Registration is in Chancellor Green from 10:30-11:15 a.m. The keynote address is in McCosh 50.
